GEELONG GREYHOUND RACING CLUB

The recently redeveloped Beckley Centre is ready to host its first Geelong Gold Cup.

Geelong Greyhound Racing Club General Manager Daniel Salter says the new complex is state of the art, with its unique racing set-up of twin tracks the first of its kind.

Heats for the 2011 $40,000 Geelong Gold Cup will be held on Friday, October 28, with the final set for Friday, November 4.

Mr Salter says the redevelopment is poised to take advantage of the resurgence in the greyhound racing industry.

"Greyhound racing is a fast growing industry significantly increasing its wagering market share to almost 20 per cent in recent years," he says.

The greyhounds race at Geelong every Friday night and Thursday afternoon.

Mr Salter says the Geelong region is the premier dog training area in Victoria, ensuring great racing and an ideal night out in a family friendly environment.

Shop-top living push: Waiver plan for parking

BY JOHN VAN KLAVEREN

COUNCIL wants to encourage shop-top living in central Geelong with a waiver on a requirement for developers to provide car parks.

But the waiver could delay development of a multi-storey car park in the city, according to a council report.

Councillors voted this week to ask Planning Minister Mathew Guy to defer the council's precinct parking plan for at least 12 months, removing a potential funding source for a multi-storey park.

The report said deferring the parking plan was necessary "to provide flexibility on parking" for shop-top developments.

Under the parking plan developers must pay $18,500 for each space they are unable to provide.

Fruit Property Geelong's Peter Julian warned city parking would remain "a killer" during business hours without a new multi-storey car park.

"An extra multi-storey park would help no end because we're a country of car users," Mr Julian said.

"Waiving car park requirements for shop-top living is all well and good but it doesn't solve the problem. People still don't have anywhere to park their car, especially during business hours.

"It's nice but it's simply waiving a rule as opposed to providing a solution."

The council report said providing on-street parking permits for central Geelong residents would be difficult during business hours.

Mr Julian suggested council could allow development of apartments on top of a multi-level car park to help fund its construction.

"All of a sudden you've got a great set of apartments with awesome views and you've got somewhere central to park," he said.

"Landlords could lease spots allocated to CBD residences and residents could walk from their apartments to the car park. It needs a big bold plan instead of little touch ups here and there."

Council's planning portfolio holder Cr Rod Macdonald said the city area had no shortage of parking under existing demand.

"There are a number of options for longer-term parking and there are still all-day parks available," he said.

"All we're doing is providing an option for those who don't need a car park. It will be interesting to see how the market responds."

"We'll have to reassess the policy in the future but we wanted to get it started and give developers and potential residents an attractive proposition."

"Those who want a car space will choose to live somewhere else."

Wave 'bye to winter

What could be better than a bike ride on Geelong's waterfront in brilliant sunshine? According to Hamlyn Heights' Lily, 5, only the fact spring is also right around the corner. Lily practised her cycling skills on the foreshore this week as the region enjoyed an unseasonably warm winter swan song.

Inspirational: Some of the Deakin students' Icon for Geelong designs, now available to inspect on the internet.

Uni students' designs set standard for icon

DEAKIN University architecture students have produced a series of inspiring Icon for Geelong designs, according to their lecturer.

Jeremy Ham said the students produced the designs as part of a unit project, with many likely to be entered in the Icon for Geelong competition.

"They came up with all sorts of ideas," Mr Ham said.

"Some of them were out there, like relocating Skilled Stadium onto a pier in the middle of Corio Bay...others were ideas like bungy jumping towers on the foreshore, light installations or structures framing the view of Geelong."

icon FOR GEELONG

Mr Ham called many of the designs "simple but achievable", with potential to win the Icon for Geelong competition.

He said almost 60 of the students' designs were available for inspection at deakin.edu.au/scitech/ab/about/student-work/srd364-t2-2011.php

The Icon for Geelong competition offers a $10,000 cash prize from Senia Lawyers to design a landmark for the city. The competition seeks a design of artistic merit to raise Geelong's profile around the world.

Icon for Geelong opened earlier this month, with entries closing on January 28 and the winner announced on March 11.

Mr Ham said the competition had created a buzz among Deakin's design students.

"The $10,000 would be half a year's wage for the average student.

"From a students' point of view, it would be good to back themselves and have a go."

Mr Ham said the competition and design project were also helping forge links between students and the wider Geelong community.

"It's a great example of where there's an issue in Geelong, like coming up with an icon or the like, the students can be engaged to provide solutions."

A design brief for the competition is available at deakin.edu.au/scitech/ab.

The Independent, as a sponsor of Icon for Geelong, will provide regular updates and stories on entries.

Council to seek 'help' with bus interchange

BY JOHN VAN KLAVEREN

GEELONG'S council wants Department of Human Services help with "anti-social" activity around Moorabool St's bus interchange, according to a councillor.

Andy Richards, who holds council's transport portfolio, said City Hall would write to the department asking for officers to "help out".

"We'll also write to Victoria Police requesting additional foot patrols in central Geelong," he said.

"We're looking for the State Government to step up to the plate on these issues.

"We want them to support a rostered police presence at the interchange, more DHS officers to help out and the Department of Transport to further improve public transport infrastructure.

"Council does not want to just move the problem that exists around some young people's use of the area to another part of Geelong. It's important that both extra police and youth officers are part of the solution."

The plan follows a council review of the interchange, which found that it helped increase bus patronage 19 per cent.

The review identified significant pedestrian increases in surrounding streets along with strong support for the interchange's location.

Cr Richards said the review also highlighted "concerns", including congestion and bad behaviour.

"Anti-social behavior by some individuals is having a negative impact, there's a need to improve the level of amenity for bus patrons and smoking in and around the bus interchange needs addressing.

"We'll be taking these issues up with the relevant authorities and the State Government as a matter of priority."

Cr Richards said council would provide smoke-free zones around the bus interchange.

The City would ask Department of Transport for continued safety officer patrols, cleaning services around the interchange and improved signage and information on bus times and routes.

Mooney retires

PREMIERSHIP forward Cameron Mooney has announced his retirement from football with a suggestion more Cats could follow him out the door at the end of the year.

Mooney told a media conference on Tuesday he hoped to play in another premiership in his final AFL match but then said he expected "another couple of boys" to also retire in the next few weeks.

View protection

GEELONG'S council wants to protect homeowners' "significant views" with a planning scheme amendment, according to a City Hall statement.

The statement said the amendment to go before the state Planning Minister sought permanent 7.5-metre building height limits in areas "identified as having access to significant views" while leaving other zones without restrictions.

Surf science

TORQUAY surf company Quiksilver has signed a $350,000 partnership with Geelong scientists to develop "the next generation of action sportswear", according to Deakin University.

Deakin said the research would seek to "enhance the interaction" of sports clothing with athletes to boost performance.

Ball bounty

ABOUT 1000 guests at an inaugural Geelong Mayoral Ball have raised around $120,000 for children's services at two city hospitals.

Mayor John Mitchell said the cash would go to Geelong Hospital's children's ward and St John of God Special Care Nursery.

Bollywood dances into lives of residents and carers

BY KIM WATERS

BOLLYWOOD dance has left the big screen and made its way to Geelong.

Asha Bollywood Dance's Asha Prasad said the style was beneficial for anyone with cognitive, sensory, neurological or mobility impairments.

Ms Prasad said an overwhelming enrolment of aspiring dancers for classes in June prompted her to organise a second round starting in September, with admission free for carers.

"The hand movements and techniques really enhance cognitive development and neural stimulation," Ms Prasad said.

"You can go as hard as you want with it, so it's great for fitness as a gym-style workout. There's also the option of just doing the face, neck and hand movements for anyone in a wheelchair or with limitations."

Ms Prasad said the not-for-profit classes were open for men and women of all ages and mobility levels.

"Last year we had about 45 regulars of all skill levels who loved the costumes and vibrancy of the music."

Ms Prasad said City of Greater Geelong and welfare agencies Karingal and Scope supported the therapy initiative.

Scope Manifold coordinator

Amanda Grant was full of praise for the program.

"Bollywood dance therapy provided meaningful experiences and interactions for people who, at times, have been socially isolated and it's a safe and welcoming environment where they can try new things," she said.

The program's $5 classes run from September 6 at Vines Road Community Centre.

Single-parent link to obesity for girls

BY KIM WATERS

GIRLS in single-parent families are at higher risk of becoming overweight or obese than counterparts in dual-parent households, according to new Deakin University research.

Deakin School of Psychology lecturer Dr Linda Byrne said a study of 8717 children aged four to nine from 300 postcodes revealed girls from single-parent families were more likely to pack on the pounds.

Dr Byrne said the study also found that children in single-parent households watched more television and ate more fatty and sugary foods and less fruits and vegetables.

She described the results as “confronting”.

“Parenting is a difficult job and there are extra demands when undertaking this task alone,” Dr Byrne said.

“It’s important our results are not used to judge single parents. Rather, what we’ve found should be used to develop strategies to support families through some of the most challenging parts of parenting: what to feed the kids and how to keep them active.”

Dr Byrne said despite the weight-risk findings the study also found that girls from one-parent households watched only two hours more television a week and ate just “a little more” high-fat and sugary foods.

The research demonstrated that “small changes” in single-parent behaviour could result in better outcomes for their children, she said.

“While the overall results for eating and television viewing are consistent with other studies, we were surprised to find that only girls from single-parent families were overrepresented in the overweight category. This might be because girls are not as active as boys.

“Mothers’ perception of neighbourhood safety has been shown to influence weight in girls. If single mothers perceive their neighbourhood to be unsafe, they may be less likely to encourage their daughters to go outside and exercise.”

Traffic squad living through road toll tragedy

Shattered Lives Our hidden road toll

BY JOHN VAN KLAVEREN

THE MEMBERS of Victoria Police Geelong Traffic Division are pretty good at maintaining a professional exterior.

“You have to be professional,” Senior Sergeant Shane Coles said, “otherwise we can’t do the job.”

These are the men who attend the serious collisions, where someone dies, where others may have suffered horrendous injuries.

They’ve all been doing it for a while. And they all have stories to tell about dealing with the aftermath of someone’s mistake on the road.

“We might do three or four fatalities a year on average, often with serious injuries involved as well,” Sen Sgt Coles said.

His squad murmurs in agreement.

“Then it’s dealing with the family reaction.

“Families always look for the reasons why and sometimes when we tell them the reason it’s really hard for them to accept.”

Families often turned to the investigating officer because they knew of nowhere else to go.

Sen Sgt Coles said police lived with the event for three to six months while carrying out the investigation.

Counting the cost: Leading Senior Constable Darren Mighall and Senior Sergeant Shane Coles, both at front, with Leading Sen Constables Glenn Stephens and Andrew Champion.
Picture: Tommy Ritchie 69441

“Dealing with the family during that time, you can feel a bit like a counsellor or psychologist. Often we’ll refer them to (counselling and support body) Road Trauma Support Services Victoria.”

One of the squad members admitted he sometimes had a chat with the police psychologist.

The admission took the others by surprise.

“It builds up after a while,” he said quietly.

Police have peer support officers and a welfare section, although the squad members gave the impression that sometimes informal supports were of greater value than the structured assistance.

“The banter between the blokes can help,” Sen Sgt Coles said.

“You need to keep your sense of humour even though sometimes it might be a bit black because we all need to have some release, like the medical profession.

“You can put cases behind you and then there’ll be some trigger and it will bring it all back.”

Ukrainian families’ expo ‘celebrates independence’

BY KIM WATERS

MORE than 300 Geelong Ukrainian families will break out borscht and potato dumplings this weekend to celebrate 20 years since their mother country’s independence.

Association of Ukrainians in Victoria Geelong branch member Irene Stawiski encouraged families of other nationalities to sample Ukrainian culture at a “mini expo” in the city this weekend.

Ms Stawiski said the expo would mark the 1991 end of Ukraine’s long struggle for independence after the fall of the former Soviet Union.

Sunday’s expo would showcase traditional entertainment, food, Ukrainian beer and vodka, cultural displays and a costume parade, she said.

Many Ukrainian migrants fled political unrest after World War

II to settle in Geelong.

“This 20-year celebration is a big thing because many of the families still have a connection with their homeland – even second or third generations have been brought up learning about the culture, language and heritage and maintaining traditions.”

Ms Stawiski hoped Geelong would embrace the event.

“This kind of thing goes a long way to encouraging tolerance of other cultures and learning about other political situations. We’re lucky to live in a democratic country and we can’t just assume people in other countries have it the same way.

Ms Stawiski said the expo would begin 11am at Geelong West’s Ukrainian Hall, 57 Pakington St.

Dancin’ in the street: Displays of Ukrainian culture will feature at Sunday’s “mini expo” in Geelong West.

Library boost, VicRoads loss

WORK TO redevelop Drysdale’s library will begin on Monday, ward councillor Rod Macdonald has announced.

But the project will lead to the loss of the town’s VicRoads service, according to a council statement.

Cr Macdonald said the redevelopment would deliver additional library space and programs as well as eight extra computers with internet access.

“The new library will be more spacious and have modern, up-to-date facilities. This includes an increase from two to 10 computers with internet access.”

“Works will take between five and eight weeks and I thank residents for their patience while the library and customer service centre are closed.”

Council’s statement said the VicRoads service operating in the library’s council customer centre would “no longer be available after this renovation”.

Residents could instead phone VicRoads or visit its South Geelong office, council said.

Court backs store at Torquay entry

Bunnings’ victory

BY JOHN VAN KLAVEREN

BUNNINGS has promised a jobs boon for the Surf Coast after winning its battle to build a $19 million store at the entrance to Torquay.

The company said it would hire 80 “local residents” to more than 100 jobs in construction.

A Victorian Supreme Court decision this week gave the national hardware giant a green light to start work.

The store bid drew widespread opposition from residents concerned about big-box retail development at the entry to Torquay and its impact on existing businesses.

Bunnings said it was pleased the court had “dismissed a challenge” to the store on Beacon Blvd.

Chief operating officer Peter Davis said construction work would begin in the next month.

“The new store has been designed specifically for the local Torquay market and is half the size of a traditional metropolitan Bunnings Warehouse,” Mr Davis said.

The store would cover over 6000 square metres and have parking for more than 200 cars.

Torquay Commerce and Tourism Association president Martin Duke said the community “sort of expected” the decision.

“It wasn’t the news we wanted to hear, it’s disappointing. We really didn’t want another shopping centre to open there,” Mr Duke said.

“We don’t want all the other big boxes to open up beside them. It will make Torquay look like another Warrnambool.”

Mr Duke said the appeals process was now exhausted.

Surf Coast Shire council rejected Bunnings’ initial application last year.

The company then appealed to Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal, which overturned the shire’s decision. Traders appealed the tribunal decision to the Supreme Court.

“They still have to abide by all the original conditions and there’s a lot of good conditions in there,” Mr Duke said.

“I don’t think they’ll start anything for quite a while, even though it’s only going to be a baby Bunnings.”

MP's office in 4C 'tip' anger

BY KIM WATERS

A LABOR MP's office has told residents State Government will leave unchanged the route of a controversially proposed bypass link south of Geelong, according to a lead objector.

South Grovedale Action Group's Margarita Kumnik accused federal Member for Corangamite Darren Cheeseman of "playing political hockey" with residents fighting the route for stage 4C of the bypass.

Objectors are waiting for state Planning Minister Matthew Guy to announce his decision on 4C after receiving an advisory panel report several weeks ago.

"Darren Cheeseman's assistant rang me...and asked what we thought about how the report of the advisory committee had recommended leaving the road where it was," Ms Kumnik said.

"I said we hadn't heard that and asked who had told them and he responded that he couldn't say.

"Turns out when we queried him about what his assistant had said...he back tracked and said he would 'bet London to a brick' that the existing road corridor would remain but would not say he knew so."

Ms Kumnik said residents were questioning why the decision was taking so long when Mr Guy promised in January that it would take "a low number of months".

Mr Cheeseman turned up the heat on State Government over the delay.

"The Planning Minister, Matthew Guy, has admitted the 4C report has been sitting on his desk for weeks now," Mr Cheeseman said.

"Now the chickens have come home to roost Matthew Guy and (South Barwon MP) Mr Katos have to face up to their pre-election antics where they indicated to local Grovedale residents that it would not be that big a deal to move the road, giving the impression they would move the road.

"They either now back that up or they apologise to these Grovedale residents for misleading them, deliberately saying one thing before the election and doing another thing now."

Mr Guy blamed the former Labor Government for creating a ring road "mess".

"It's a detailed and complex situation and that's why Labor's mess is so difficult to clean up," he said.

"We went through a long consultation process involving the community, unlike the previous Labor Government, and the decision will be announced soon."

Residents of Waurn Ponds and Grovedale fear noise, traffic and property value impacts from the proposal to run 4C along a railway reservation adjacent to homes.

Unhidden dragon: TAC's Janet Dore, Give Where You Live's Bill Mithen and willing rowers Lauren Vallance and Ross Parker call for dragon boat regatta entries.

Regatta fires up with dragon boats

BY JOHN VAN KLAVEREN

AUSTRALIA'S largest corporate rowing fundraiser has expanded with the addition of a dragon boat regatta.

TAC will join Geelong welfare support charity Give Where You Live to sponsor the Wipe Off 5 Cup.

TAC head Janet Dore said the organisation was proud to support the disadvantaged in Geelong where the TAC's staff worked and lived.

"TAC staff will be participating in the regatta and, while we'll be rowing our hardest and fastest on the water, we'll be reminding people to slow down when they get back on the road," Ms Dore said.

The Alcoa Corporate Head of the River raised $65,000 last year.

Organisers said this year's target had swelled to $120,000 with the additional events.

Participants could register for the dragon boat regatta as individuals or as crews of 20, the organisers said.

Entries close August 31.

BOUQUETS to all the Grovedale vets, especially Jill, for the care and compassion after the passing of our darling dog, Buddy. He was part of our family for over 16 years. Heather and Renee, Belmont

BOUQUETS to two lovely ladies who helped me stand after I badly hurt my knee on Rollins Rd on July 30. Special thanks to a lovely young lady who was walking four dogs and still managed to help me walk home. Grateful Derriwill Street, North Geelong

BUCKETS to a patisserie in Geelong for not only producing the worst special occasion cake I've ever eaten – rock hard and completely stale – but for failing to honour its service enough to refund my $45 while being rude to boot! Disappointed, Clifton Springs

BOUQUETS to kind passers-by who helped me lift my husband's wheelchair into our car boot outside Kardinia House over the past five weeks. Your assistance was appreciated. Cheril, Lara

BOUQUETS of sympathy to Upset (Buckets and Bouquets, August 19). My daughter got a job after two years looking but within 10 days was also told she wasn't fast enough either, even though she had no previous experience and had only worked a few shifts. Young people need time to learn. Disappointed Mum, Lara

BOUQUETS to National Windscreens who quoted me $50 and said I could attend immediately after various others had given prices from $200 upward. After the gentleman completed my repair he told me not to worry about it because it was on him. There's not much kindness like that any more. Kylie, Corio

BUCKETS to crazy restaurant delivery drivers. Your speeds are disgusting. Alex, Barwon Heads

BUCKETS to people who walk dogs on Pakington St, Geelong West. I am so over playing hop, skip and jump with the dog poo from one end of the street to the other. People are fined for dogs pooing in parks but what about our streets? Pick it up, pigs. Not Happy Jan, Geelong West

BOUQUETS to Justin and other people for their kindness and concern when they helped me after I fell at Waurm Ponds' fish and chip shop on Saturday. Ellen, Grovedale

BOUQUETS to everyone who stopped at a bus stop on Shannon Ave on August 18 to help two young girls being unnecessarily attacked. Special thanks to the lady who insisted on driving them home. Your concern and kindness was greatly appreciated. Grateful Parents, Hamlyn Heights

$2m study into restoring rail links

PASSENGER trains could run again between Geelong, Ballarat and Bendigo depending on the outcome of a new investigation, according to State Government. Public Transport Minister Terry Mulder said the $2 million study would also investigate reopening stations at Bannockburn, Lethbridge and Meredith. The study would investigate "short and long-term options" for improving public transport between Geelong, Ballarat and Bendigo, he said. "Victoria's rural population will continue to grow. It's important the study considers possible future development or key challenges and priorities for communities in the region."

Mr Mulder said consultants would carry out the two-year study, with the Government's Department of Transport to work with councils to identify the challenges and priorities. The former Kennett Government shut the services in the 1990s.

Anglers try to lure members

JOHN VAN KLAVEREN

BY JOHN VAN KLAVEREN

THE PISCATORIAL arts will be alive and well in the region as long as the old hands at Geelong and District Anglers Club can wield a rod.

Despite the incursions of technology into one of mankind's oldest pastimes, the game of wits between fish and fisherman will always be paramount.

Club president Keith Patten said quite a few of the 80-odd members had invested in sounders and GPS units to try gaining an edge in the game.

"Some of us are pretty old school but you can never count the fish out, even despite the electronics," Keith observed.

Keith said the organisation was proud to be the only regional angling club with its own clubrooms, in Yuille St, Geelong West, filled with trophies, mementoes, charts and records.

Keith said the club held regular day and overnight outings to various fishing destinations.

"We'll usually select a body of water to go to and get to know it and build up knowledge within the club."

Keith said the club was keen to gain new members, particularly juniors.

"There are a lot of things distracting juniors these days, so we have to make sure we keep our juniors going – it's the future of the club."

Club stalwart Rudi Holzfeind said members always cleaned up after competitions to demonstrate responsible community involvement.

"More often than not we leave the place better than we found it," Rudi said.

"We also take Diversitat clients and seniors on fishing trips, we have an active tree planting program and a couple of our members are Fishcare volunteers."

The club has operated since 1928 and built its clubrooms in 1963, often hosting meetings of Association of Geelong and District Angling Clubs.

The club is a foundation member of the association, formed as a means of providing anglers with a stronger voice at state government level on fishing issues such as marine parks and funding grants for infrastructure.

Keith said the Government realised angling was an important industry.

"There are 11 clubs in the association now and together we represent a fair number of anglers from around the region."

Keith said many members would attend the club's annual presentation night this Friday when a table full of trophies would be awarded.

Keith said prospective members could phone him on 5241 5678 or club secretary Allan Marshall on 0418 992 672.

Tough on community

LYNETTE Hughes' letter in last week's Independent restated a view on the drug issue that has been expounded for nearly 100 years.

It's time to see that nothing has changed or improved on this issue during our lifetimes with this approach. Could it be that the tough-on-crime stance just doesn't work?

With the reappearance of heroin in the community, it's time for a more-realistic look at who benefits from the existing system and who loses.

Tough-on-drugs rhetoric is simplistic, too easy and only serves to maintain the status quo for vested interests while attacking the weakest links.

Politicians like to get elected on it; government managers including police like having big departments; public sector unions like having lots of members; security companies and insurers like it because fear keeps prices up and people paying; drug lords like the power, money and that they can mostly pass the dirty work on to others; Afghani farmers like it because they are paid by the Taliban to grow opium; the Taliban likes it because their enemies' populations pay for weapons.

The losers are the end users and our community who pay for extra police, health care, child protection, court, jails and welfare services.

We also pay personal costs through thefts, burglaries and robberies as well as the human cost to our troops and their families.

The reality is that if addicts could be treated under a medical model, many of the costs to our community would start to shrink.

Alan Kent
Belmont

War on reality

I HAVE two inconvenient truths for Lynette Hughes.

First, if she was genuinely concerned for the welfare of people and believed that prohibiting the most dangerous drugs was the best strategy, which it isn't, she would lobby for the banning of two drugs: tobacco and alcohol.

Second, with the exception of smoking cannabis, which carries similar risks to smoking tobacco, and inhalants, no illegal drugs are as dangerous as tobacco and alcohol.

There is one thing that has substantially increased the distribution and consumption of drugs other than tobacco, alcohol and caffeine: their illegality due to the so-called war on drugs.

Prohibition guarantees three things, among others: high rates of illicit substance distribution and use, unregulated quality and the criminalisation and

Nelson scaring away new economy

IT IS disappointing Cr Ron Nelson uses such puerile scare tactics (Letters, August 19) when what is needed is thoughtful discussion and positive action on the new economy.

Australia already lags the world on climate action. Add our emissions intensity, which is four times the world average, and we have serious work ahead.

Compared to the Liberal policy of taxing Australians and paying emitters, the carbon tax will cost much less and produce results. The aim is that as we switch energy sources the tax actually decreases, so "seven per cent a year, every year" makes no sense.

Cr Nelson also ignored the compensation package under which the majority will be better off and the wealthiest will pay a couple of dollars a day.

We will have extra money to cover costs and still be able to choose cheaper renewable energy.

Now before Cr Nelson increases rates, how about doing the rational thing and looking at ways of reducing costs rather than the easy option of just passing on increases to ratepayers. Turn the heaters down 2C, switch off lights et cetera.

This price signal to our economy is already driving billions of dollars in investment into cleaner options. For example, coal-seam gas.

If Australia converted every dirty power station to gas-fired then we would easily meet our international commitments to reducing our emissions.

Geelong, with its strong manufacturing base, will have fantastic opportunities but we need leaders who will help, not hinder this new future.

oppression of users.

One might wonder why Ms Hughes espouses such a policy.

Loving libraries

THE COALITION State Government's decision to increase funding for local libraries by $6.5 million during the next three years (Independent, August 19) is particularly pleasing to announce.

As a former local government councillor and representative of a library corporation, I am fully aware of just how highly valued and important our local libraries are.

The additional $6.5 million will allow libraries to further improve the excellent range of services on offer to Victoria's 2.5 million local library members.

The very difficult budget situation we inherited from the former Labor government makes the coalition's decision to reverse Labor's embedded budget cuts that much more significant.

I'm establishing a landmark review of the role, services and funding for libraries, to be conducted by a bi-partisan ministerial advisory committee.

This cross-party committee will ensure our local libraries have the support needed to adapt and develop in a rapidly changing world.

One thing that won't change is how the staff of local libraries service the needs of people of all ages and generations in our communities with care and consideration.

Jeanette Powell MP
Minister for Local Government

Up Gillard's sleeves

I'M AMAZED at the lengths to which Prime Minister Julia Gillard went in order to win the election.

After all, she didn't want egg on her face from losing.

First she ousted Kevin Rudd then she invited the independents on board knowing full well the extent of their demands, one of which was the carbon tax initiated by the Greens.

I wonder what she has up her sleeves for future deception of the people.

Christina Dengler
Norlane

Worse than Gough

PRIME Minister Julia Gillard is obviously not in the same mould as former Labor Prime Minister Gough Whitlam who sacked ministers over political indiscretions.

The Prime Minister should have sacked Craig Thomson over the credit card scandal. It is outrageous he has the Prime Minister's "full support."

This matter underscores the moral bankruptcy of the incumbent government, which only governs with the support of three independents.

These three should ask the Prime Minister to sack Mr Thomson.

If she refuses then they should, as a matter of principle and one could add integrity, withdraw their support for the Gillard Government.

The Gillard Government lurches from one crisis to another. It has lost the trust of the Australian people.

It's time it was forced to face the music at a general election.

Rates of negotiation

THE VALIDITY of the contract between ratepayers and council is under question.

Home owners are told that on purchase of their property they must begin paying rates.

Thus, on the first payment of rates a contract for services has been entered into.

The problem with this relates to some fundamentals of contract law.

What is not divulged is that under contract law both parties must have the ability to negotiate the terms of the contract and include or omit clauses they do not agree with.

Ratepayers have never been given an opportunity to negotiate terms with councils.

Rates are arbitrarily determined on often-flawed property valuations on which ratepayers have no input.

Furthermore, a contract is null and void if entered into under duress. This is the case with council rates because home owners are emphatically told they must pay rates or face all sorts of consequences.

Local government is under siege to the spreading knowledge it has no constitutional recognition, precluding any ability to impose property taxes via rates.

Rates should be set fairly by ability to pay, not on over-inflated house valuations, and negotiability of the contract should be available to home owners.

Otherwise the contract may be unlawful and ratepayers not liable for rates.

Worried about aged care?

Take a close look at Sunrise Supported Living

We have come to understand and acknowledge there is a better way to care for our seniors. Many Australian seniors are dissatisfied with the residential care choices available today.

Sunrise has offered a complete solution, addressing many of the inadequacies in traditional aged care. At Sunrise, residents purchase and live in their own purposely designed apartment. This quickly becomes home, as it offers the same benefits as the existing family home, but is designed with seniors needs in mind.

Of course, personal choice, dignity, privacy and individuality are still enjoyed and valued as a part of daily life.

Sunrise ensures that residents retain the same high quality lifestyle that they have always enjoyed. Sunrises' residents benefit from enjoying the companionship, freedom and security normally found in a retirement village, with the personal 24-hour care normally only provided by aged care facilities. Each Sunrise apartment is fully self-contained with lounge/dining area, bedroom, bathroom and washing machine. All are bright and airy with their own courtyard.

The kitchens are fully appointed, with convection microwave, cook top, range hood and fridge.

Residents who enjoy cooking at home, sometimes don't feel like cooking. Simply, they can choose to join the other residents in the Sunrise dining room, where delicious and nutritious meals are provided at a minimal cost.

For couples, the thought of being separated is heartbreaking. The Sunrise advantage for couples is the ability to remain together and not to be separated as often happens in the traditional aged care system.

Sunrise takes care of daily chores, such as maintaining the community grounds and facilities, to allow residents to get on with life. Our carers are always available to help out with daily housekeeping chores such as cleaning, washing and ironing.

Whatever level of assistance you choose it can be provided.

Everyone here is free to enjoy their homes and community facilities in the peace and quiet they deserve. Residents and their families can rest easy in the knowledge that care is always on hand at Sunrise. Fully qualified and experienced carers are available day and night, whenever required, to provide assistance in the privacy of the resident's own home. A Registered Nurse is also available whenever required to provide regular health checks, wound and skin care, injections, palliative in home care, medication management, etc.

By providing professional care to elderly or frail residents in their own home, Sunrise allows residents to remain as independent as possible for as long as possible.

Now, there is a Sunrise near you, at Grovedale, call 1300 665 720 for details.

Here comes Trouble: The Mojo Corner launches its new CD this Friday night with the support of The Midnight Specials and Luke Legs.

Geelong Mojo Corner rising

BY JOHN VAN KLAVEREN

GEELONG blues rock outfit The Mojo Corner went to a lot of trouble to ensure its raw live sound survived the recording process.

Harmonica player Rory Millar said the band wanted to make sure the sometimes-sterile environment of the studio failed to take over.

The solution was to record the latest album, Trouble, in one hit to achieve the dynamic of a live performance.

"We wanted it to sound like a live show and to capture the energy," Millar explained.

"We wanted the album to transport you to the pub while you were listening to it. We didn't want to put a lot of production into it because we wanted the sound to be who we are."

"What you hear is what you get: an album full of energetic, dirty, filthy rock blues."

The album will receive its first full airing when The Mojo Corner releases it to coincide with the opening of central Geelong's Basement 159, formerly Limelight Lounge, this Friday night.

The band's first album for two years, Trouble features tracks like Lone Rider, Uncle Jack and Killer Munro. The songs are already proving popular on the band's My Space page.

Rory said the album, recorded at Sing Sing studios in Richmond, was a collection of stories from real life.

The Mojo Corner also features vocalist Dan Lagana, Johnny Hawken on guitar, drummer Mark McLeod and Shaun Hilton on bass.

Millar said Luke Legs and The Midnight Specials would support the CD launch, with doors opening at 7.30pm.

Tickets cost $10 at the door.

Send dads to whisky night

Black Bull Tapas Bar and Restaurant's whisky dinner is a great Father's Day gift idea.

The dinner will feature four courses matched with Glenfarclus whisky, including 30 and 40-year-old bottles. A whisky facilitator will be on hand to discuss each whisky with diners.

The dinner will begin at 7pm on September 8.

Black Bull management is urging families wanting to book whisky connoisseurs into the unforgettable evening to phone the restaurant to secure seats.

The Black Bull is also urging bookings now for functions.

The restaurant is ideal for a range of events, with its newly renovated function room ideal as a venue to host work functions, birthdays, engagement parties and weddings.

Packages can be tailored to suit specific arrangements.

Everyday dining is also a treat at Black Bull, where mouth-watering lunch specials are available. Diners can select two tapas from the lunch menu for only $14.

The Black Bull specialises in contemporary, European-style cuisine with a Spanish influence.

Award-winning chefs Daniel Brehaut and Hernando Callejas have created a menu bursting with variety, spice and flavour to suit all palates.

Chefs Hernando Callejas and Daniel Brehaut at Black Bull Tapas Bar and Restaurant.

The restaurant's extensive wine list complements the meals with plenty of local and Spanish additions. Diners are advised to try a tempranillo, an alborino or the Black Bull's house-made sangria.

Many Spanish beers are also available, including Moritz, Estrella and Rosita along with local and imported brews.

'BUBBLE WRAP' MOUSSE

1. Melt chocolate in a heatproof bowl over a pan of simmering water (don't let the bowl touch the water). Remove from the heat, then stir until smooth. Set aside to cool.
2. Meanwhile, separate 2 eggs and set the eggwhites aside. Place the 2 egg yolks, remaining whole egg, vanilla extract and 2 tablespoons sugar in the bowl of an electric mixer and beat until thick and pale.
3. Lightly whip the thickened cream to soft peaks. Fold melted chocolate and cream into egg mixture until combined.
4. In a separate bowl with clean beaters, beat eggwhites with remaining 1 tbs caster sugar until soft peaks form. Fold into egg mixture to just combine, keeping as much air in the mixture as possible. Place mousse in a glass serving dish and cover with a layer of Lindor balls. Chill for 4-6 hours until mousse is set, then serve.

Euro visions

The glitz and glamour of Eurovision has come to life on stage in a new production at Geelong Performing Arts Centre.

Local theatre company GSODA debuted EUROBEAT - Almost Eurovision last weekend, with the show running until this Saturday night.

The interactive musical features Geelong's Paula Kontelj and Shane Lee as gracious Bosnian hosts Boyka and Sergei.

Described as over-the-top good fun, EUROBEAT is a loving homage to Eurovision with its tongue firmly in cheek.

The production is like a shiny, sequinned festival of varying talent, with the audience becoming part of the show.

Split into 14 competing nations, the audience goes head to head through song and dance to win the coveted Eurobeat Award.

With the audience voting live for the winner, competitors go wild to win the coveted bragging rights.

Promoters say anyone willing to change nationality for an evening of barracking for their team amid bright lights, flashy costumes, feel-good music and fancy footwork will love EUROBEAT.

"Organise your loudest friends and family members, your workmates, your sporting team or your social group and get set for the most riotous, hilarious and entertaining night of your musical life."

Middle and senior school students enjoy modern science facilities at Geelong Lutheran College.

College delivers values for parents

Geelong Lutheran College's new middle school building marks the college's consolidation into its sub-school structure.

Head of school Barry Krueger recently spoke of the "schools-within-a-school approach" that will feature the development of separate primary, middle and senior schools.

"This approach promises all the quality outcomes associated with small school settings together with the resources of a larger school," he said.

Construction of further specialist facilities is planned for later this year and 2012 in preparation for the VCE in 2013.

A relatively wide range of subjects are planned, together with opportunities for service learning, engaging with local communities and personal development.

Geelong Lutheran College, at Mt Duneed, in the Armstrong Creek urban growth corridor, started with just 57 students in 2009.

The college is a member school of Lutheran Education Australia and a sister school to St John's Lutheran School in Newtown.

Lutheran schools are renowned for their strong values-based approach to education, commitment to learning and pastoral care of students.

Parents considering enrolling children in a Lutheran education can join twilight tours of the college on September 1 or view classes in action on the open morning on September 2.

Anyone with inquiries can phone the school's reception on 5264 1038.

Activities highlight Lutheran standards

St John's students display their Book Week creations.

St John's Lutheran School students have participated in Book Week activities to exercise their talents under the theme One World, Many Stories.

As part of Book Week activities at the school, the students planned, created and displayed their works during library sessions focussing on all things international as part of the theme.

Focussing on the qualities of trust, respect and peace, they constructed masks of people from around the world, wrote and illustrated Dreamtime stories and created class books allowing them to explore the world while creating links and friendships around the world.

Activities culminated in an afternoon celebrating International Peace Day.

Library Captains led a special reading of Eleanor Coerr's Sadako.

Years three to six students learned how to fold paper cranes, creating a collection of 1000.

Prep to year two students constructed paper lanterns.

Level four capped the activities with a catwalk parade of amazing masks for all students and parents.

Swift and sure

BY ERIC BLAIR

It's one of the most basic concepts in business. If you take over a new business that's thriving you make as few visible changes as possible, whereas if it's one that's struggling you plaster it with 'Under New Management' signs.

Well, the car design caper's much the same. Whenever you see an upgrade where the changes are negligible then you know that it's been selling well.

So it is with the late-2010 upgrade to the Suzuki Swift which is barely distinguishable from its predecessor.

There are changes, the headlights and taillights are larger and more sweeping than before, but the new Swift has retained the tall, neat and angular design that has proven so popular since its launch in 2005.

But the Swift shape isn't just there to look cute, it's also very practical. The number one aim across the current automotive world is improved fuel efficiency and engine emissions and Suzuki has taken the brave step of reducing the size of the Swift's engine from 1490 cc to 1372 cc. While this has produced a slight decrease in both power (70 kW compared with 74 kW) and torque (130 Nm from 133 Nm) it has ticked the green boxes with good reductions in fuel consumption (5.5 L/100 km against 6.3 L/100 km) and emissions (132 grams per km from 152 g/km).

The 2011 Suzuki Swift comes in three different equipment levels, GA, GL and GLX, all with the same engine. The entry-level GA is only offered with the five-speed manual gearbox, the GL and GLX come with the option of a four-speed automatic.

The slight reduction in power and torque is offset by reductions in weight in both engine and body and Swift remains as delightful to drive as ever.

Importantly for Suzuki's marketing people the Swift has proven to be a bit of a gender bender because, unusually for a car in this class, it appeals to both female and male drivers. It also stretches across a wide range of ages.

All-in-all the latest Suzuki Swift is an impressive small car that builds on the excellent reputation of the model it supersedes and it continues to gain plenty of new friends on the showroom floor, as well as pleasing existing owners who want to move up a class in sophistication.

Evolving suzy: Styling of the new generation Suzuki Swift is a solid evolution of the very successful previous model.

Keleman offers expert servicing for Mazdas

Gary Keleman has an extensive knowledge of all types of servicing and repairs to Mazdas, including engine rebuilds, clutch and brake repairs and air-conditioning regassing.

For the past 33 years he has been servicing Mazdas in Geelong.

Gary says a question customers often ask is "will we lose our warranty if we don't have our car serviced by the dealer?"

In Mazda service books under "Owner Responsibility" is the following statement: "You must retain evidence that proper maintenance has been performed on you Mazda vehicle which an authorised Mazda dealer or other service provider should certify in this warranty information booklet by its stamp and its signature".

"This means if you're unhappy with your service centre, you can take your car to a service centre of your choice," Gary says.

But it's crucial that genuine parts and correct oils are used, he says.

"It's also important that you service your vehicle on time regardless of mileage."

So Gary says the answer to the question is "yes".

"Yes, Keleman Motors can service your vehicle."

"Yes, you will keep your warranty."

"Yes, Keleman Motors uses genuine parts and the best oils."

"Yes, it has the latest electronic equipment."

"Yes, Keleman Motors services all makes and models of cars."

"Yes, Keleman Motors will save you money."

For more information or to make a booking, phone Keleman Motors on 5229 9555 or visit 3/13 Crown Street, South Geelong.

Keleman Motors in Crown Street specialise in all types of servicing and repairs to Mazdas.

Rally Motors staff members Jay Beck, Tim Forssman, Daniel Hose, Marshall Johnson, Danial Hayden, Doug Edwards, Chris Barrow and Matt Barrett.

Rally Motors the expert in care for any car or four-wheel-drive

Rally Motors is not only a Geelong institution since 1971, it's also a VACC accredited workshop.

Rally Motors' Jay Beck says the accreditation means the business can service vehicles covered under factory new-car warranties without voiding them.

"We've invested lot of money in top equipment so we can offer the same services as a dealership but at a better price," Mr Beck explains.

Rally Motors also offers a full-time four-wheel-drive service centre with three experienced off-road vehicle mechanics.

Stocking a huge range of 4WD accessories and drive parts, Rally Motors is the place to check with before any off-road adventure for full servicing, pre-road trip preparation, touring set-ups and advice.

The workshop provides a courtesy car service or as well as a drop-off and pick-up runs for customers.

Rally Motors is the workshop to which owners of expensive performance and vintage cars entrust their vehicles, so family sedans are in good hands.

Senior mechanic Doug Edwards was recently entrusted with a $1 million early-model left-hand drive Corvette, one of only four left in the world.

From log book service, fleet management, brakes, tyres, exhaust, air-conditioning, auto electrical, steering, clutch replacement, change over engines, transmission and more, Rally Motors is Geelong's complete auto mechanic.

Based in the heart of Geelong, Rally Motors serves the Surf Coast, Bellarine Peninsula, Colac, Winchelsea and western districts.

Customers can phone Jay at Rally Motors on 5222 1777, visit 36 Mercer St, Geelong, or check www.rallymotors.com.au for more information.

KID PALMER (1) produced a super effort to salute in 25.46 at Shepparton last start and if he can gain a clear path early then he should prove too strong. HOT GRILLE (5) only needs a clear path early to feature.

The freakish DAVID BALE (5) is severely down in class here and if he can jump to the front then he should salute by a big margin. ABSINTH SHOT (2) is a pacy type who could find the early lead in this event.

ELSWORTHY'S
RETRAVISION

Squid influx pushes anglers to the bag limit

SQUID reports dominated the past week, with most anglers taking bag-limit captures.

The largest specimens, some pushing close to 3kg, were taken from both Queenscliff and Edwards Point.

Swan Bay's entrance hosted plenty of boat traffic, with most who hit the water early finding the squid thick.

Small, natural coloured jigs were best, particularly the Yamashita 2.5.

Tony Fitzgerald nailed his bag limit three times. Fishing in just 1.5 metres of water off Grassy Point, Tony had up to three squid attacking his jig at once, with his best an impressive 2.6kg.

Brad Mitchell found plenty of squid at St Leonards, taking his bag limit with little effort on Yo Zuri jigs.

Trevally turned up in the cut at Queenscliff. Fishing the lead up to high tide with soft plastics such as Turtleback worms should produce quality fish, with recent captures pushing 2kg.

Paul Sawyer showed me a bag of whiting from 3cm to 45cm boated at Queenscliff on Monday morning.

Paul used fresh squid baits, with the hot location just a minute from the cut entrance.

Peter Farmer fished the 20m line off St Leonards Peter Farmer to catch quality gummy shark, with the best of his four fish weighing 11.4kg cleaned.

Shaun McLeod tried trolling for snapper for the first time last weekend with success. Working from Point Wilson Pier toward Wilson Spit with Rapala Tail Dancers, Shaun landed three nice snapper to a touch over 4kg as well as five flat-head around 45cm.

Soft plastics anglers found small snapper from Point Wilson Pier all the way to Bird Rock, with three-inch Gulp minnows accounting for plenty of fish to 35cm.

The same area also hosted salmon working baitfish. The salmon were difficult to tempt but the fish landed were close to 2kg.

Bay snapper anglers had a quiet week, although Terry Anderson's patience paid off with a pair of 7kg beauties.

Terry took both halfway between the channel and North Shore rocks.

Joel Jeffries fished land-based from the rocks to catch a nice snapper of 2.3kg along with two flathead around 600g each.

Snapper were caught again from around the moored boats at Fishermen's Pier, although not in the same quantities. Bait anglers managed fish to 1.5kg after dark.

Nice one: Brad Mitchell with an example of the squid presently available around the eastern end of the Bellarine Peninsula.

Corey Gallagher fished the Barwon River estuary on the weekend, finding plenty of small salmon along with a few to 48cm. Corey also nailed half a dozen nice silver trevally on soft plastics.

Surf angling was quiet, with quality salmon difficult to find. Fairhaven and Eastern View produced fish averaging 500g, with similar specimens at Jan Juc and Breamlea.

The best salmon were caught from the mouth of St George River, with lure anglers taking fish close to 1kg.

Freshwater options remained productive, with Deep Lake yielding rainbow trout on small, bibbed lures such as X Rap 4s and SX 40s.

Lake Tooliorook was a great option for anglers using Powerbait.

Hepburn Lagoon continued to fire with rainbow trout averaging a little over 1kg. Fly and lure anglers enjoyed the best results.

Nearby Newlyn Reservoir returned some of the best captures, with browns close to 2kg, taken on lure and fly.

Anglers prepared to fish all night with local gudgeon at Lake Bullen Merri continued taking awesome brown trout, many over the magical 10lb mark.

For those fishing traditional respectable found trolling successful.

Danny Clapinski and Rick Maes trolled up two quality fish of around 2kg, while Jack Porter boated three fish better than 1.5kg each.

Lake Purrumbete also fished well, with trolling productive and mudeyes fish under bubble floats close to shore also returning results. Anglers using ice jigs also caught redfin in around seven to 10m of water.

This weekend's morning high tides should be ideal for salmon from the surf, while Deep Lake and Tooliorook will be the best bets for freshwater angling.

Send reports and photos to info@ray-longtackle.com.au or visit Brian at Ray Long's Fishing World, 105 Shannon Ave, Manifold Heights.

High five to settle on GFL finals

GEELONG Football League plays its final round of home-and-away games this weekend, with the top five still unsettled.

Newtown, St Mary's and Colac are the three sides battling it out for fourth and fifth, with St Mary's really under the pump to win against second placed South Barwon at McDonald Reserve.

The Saints had a good win over Newtown last weekend, with Luke Bath, Tim McLean and David Clarke leading the way.

South Barwon is also in good touch and belted fellow premierships fancy Bell Park last round by 37 points. The Swans always hit their straps in spring and this year appears to be no different.

Expect the Saints to put in a finals like effort but the all-round strength of South Barwon will prove too good.

The other game of interest is at Drew Reserve where St Joseph's hosts Bell Park.

Top place on the ladder will be determined in this match because these two are equal on points along with South Barwon in the top three spots.

With South Barwon expected to win its game, the Swans will go to top place if Bell Park loses.

Joeys is in good touch but Bell Park will bounce back from last week's loss to win well.

Other selections: Lara v NEWTOWN, Leopold v COLAC, WEST SAINTS v St Albans, NORTH SHORE v Grovedale.

BFL

Bellarine Football League action swings to finals this weekend, with two games scheduled for Portarlington Recreation Reserve.

Amateurs gets the weekend off after finishing on top of the ladder, leaving second placed Ocean Grove and third placed Queenscliff to play off in Saturday's qualifying final.

These two met last week, with Ocean Grove taking the points in a close game. This cost Queenscliff top spot on the ladder and the Coutas will be out for revenge.

This will be a top class encounter, with the Coutas expected to reverse last week's result.

Sunday's elimination final pits Anglesea against Torquay.

Torquay only just snuck into the finals by percentage and will hope to wreak havoc.

The last time these two met Anglesea recorded a thumping win and tomorrow should see the same result.

GDFL

Geelong and District Football League plays its second week of finals, with semis to be played at St Albans Reserve.

Saturday's second semi-final is one of the most anticipated games in local footy circles, with Bell Post Hill and East Geelong, the two stand-out teams in the league, clashing for the right to advance straight to the grand final.

East recruited well this year, with Lucas Murphy crossing from Barwon Heads as the best of the lot. Not only did he win the league goal kicking but also the league's best and fairest.

Despite East's wealth of talent, it was reigning premier Bell Post Hill who won when these two met mid-year in the only game played between the two this year.

This will be close but it will be East Geelong who wins.

Sunday's first semi-final pits Werribee Centrals and Inverleigh. For the loser it will be season over, so this will be a no-holds-barred affair.

The Centurions were thumped by East Geelong last week, while Inverleigh played well to defeat Thomson.

The Hawks' confidence will be high, which will be justified given their good mix of running and strong-marking players suits the big ground at St Albans.

It will be another close game, with

John has been the Director of Screen Actors Geelong since 2007 and has helped hundreds of local actors achieve their dreams of working in film and television. Know Your Local Tattooist

The popularity of tattoos these days means there are a lot of people interested but who don't really know how it works. But Prestige Ink owner Daniel Roach says the best way is to pop into his local Belmont studio for a chat.

"We understand that it can be a big decision to get a tattoo, so it's important to us that we provide the best customer service possible.

"We're happy to explain the process to anyone who is a bit unsure," he says. Daniel recommends prospective clients visit Prestige Ink to make their bookings.

"It's important that we spend the right amount of time with clients to ensure they leave with something they're happy with," he says.

Prestige Ink also ensures peace of mind by using only single-use equipment in sterilised blister packs, eliminating the risk of cross-contamination. The creative team at Prestige Ink can design tattoos to suit customers or work off a pre-designed image.

"No job is too big or small," Daniel promises. "We can guide someone through the design process or show them any of our 10,000 designs.

Prestige Ink also has free car parking at the rear of the shop.
